

We're all pow lovers

SOME THINGS TO KNOW BEFORE YOU GO OUT ON THE SNOW

BEFORE YOU GO

Research the area you are going.

Obey caribou closures.

Follow the Snowmobiler Code of Ethics, local club rules, and any seasonal riding restrictions.

WATCH FOR SIGNS

Wolverine tracks are usually solitary and far ranging, in a 2x2 or 3x3 pattern.

Wolverine dens are deep holes in the snow near treeline about a ruler-length wide.

Caribou can be seen in small groups and winter high in the alpine.

BE AWARE

Ski and ride responsibly.

Follow and obey posted signs.

Prevent a wildlife encounter by being aware — reduce your noise and tune your eyes and ears.

THINGS TO KNOW

If you come across an animal, STOP.

Don't approach caribou or wolverine.

If riding, turn your engine off, wait until the animal has moved on, then leave.

It's best to find another area to ski or ride.

SEE SOMETHING?

Tell your fellow skiers and riders. Let others know if there are places to avoid.

Let Wolverine Watch know if you see a track, den, or animal at: wolverinewatch.org

Share your sighting with the Provincial Caribou Recovery Team: 250-354-6333

More tips and information at y2y.net/wildlifewise

Columbia Basin trust

Yellowstone to Yukon Conservation Initiative