

A Landscape Legacy

Yellowstone to Yukon and Donor-Advised Funds

The Y2Y landscape is the only truly wild mountain region we have left. From its ancient, glaciers feeding into freshwater rivers that teem with aquatic life, to the lush alpine valley bottoms that guide grizzly bears and other mammals

across immense distances to find food and mates, this place is too precious to lose.

In supporting Yellowstone to Yukon through a Donor-Advised Fund (DAF), you are helping to keep the region the wildest on the planet for generations to come. Your DAF gifts provide a secure and reliable means of funding this essential work, meaning we can focus on pursuing this big, bold vision.

Thank you for being a force for nature.

With your continued investment, we can achieve the following initiatives to keep this place wild. ➔

Photos (left, from top to bottom): Hikers. Credit: Tristan Brand; Cutthroat trout. Credit: National Park Service; Land restoration, Treaty 8 territory. Credit: Ryan Dickie.
Left inset: Bighorn sheep. Credit: Glacier National Park Service.
Right inset: Caribou with tracking collar. Credit: David Maskowitz.

1. LANDSCAPE PROTECTION

Protect 30% of the Yellowstone to Yukon region by 2030

Although the Y2Y region is the most intact large mountain regions in the world, it is the least protected. Y2Y is collaborating with 8 First Nations communities in Canada whose conservation goals align with Y2Y's. Together we aim to save Canada's most critical habitat.

A gift from you would support collaborative efforts leading to the protection in at least two communities, totaling 20 million acres of land.

2. LANDSCAPE CONNECTIVITY

Secure 17,000 acres of private lands for wildlife movement corridors and advance wildlife crossings across the 4 busiest roads in the region by 2030.

To maintain the rich and iconic biodiversity of this region, wildlife need to be able to move through the landscape for food, mates and habitat. Providing a safe passage for wildlife across busy roads and across private lands gives wide-ranging species the room they need to roam.

With your support, we will secure at least 6 new strategic private land parcels, and progress more than 40 wildlife crossings from design to construction in both the U.S. and Canada.

3. COMMUNITIES AND CONSERVATION

By 2030, human-wildlife coexistence is common practice, and outdoor recreation is managed to protect wildlife, encouraging more nature-focused communities in areas of Y2Y.

Our 'Communities' team works with Indigenous and government leaders, businesses, non-profits, and community champions to ensure people live, work and play in a way that supports rural living and thriving wildlife populations. We help people and wildlife live together.

A DAF gift from you will advance coexistence practices in at least 3 priority corridors in the U.S. and Canada.

Together, we can keep this place wild!
Thank you, for your commitment to nature.

To further discuss your meaningful impact, please contact:

Renee Krysko, Director, Donor Relations

Phone: 1-800-966-7921 ext 105 Email: renee@y2y.net

